Biography [edit]

Nathan Notorious was born 12 August 1994 in Belleville, Illinois to parents Natasha and Lou. Nathan grew up in a middle-income household. His parents did the best they could for him and encouraged Nathan to follow his dreams. They fostered his individuality to a high degree, and it helped make him the leader he is today. Nathan Notorious success is built around his sense of personal responsibility. Nathan is quoted saying "The biggest impact parents had on me is my work ethic." Both of Nathan's parents were entrepreneurs and were said to have worked extremely hard all the time. Even involving work and family vacations to some degree. In his early years Nathan's individualism manifested in creativity. He never wanted to be at school due to his passion to create art. This turned into a nightmare for his parents because the school would always call and complain about him slacking off. This pressure from the school ended Nathan's budding career as an artist in 2003. "My school was satisfied but I wasn't my soul still longed to create." Nathan didn't get that opportunity again until middle school. In the 7th grade he taught himself how to play guitar and started a band. The band members reported to be: His brother, Dalvez Owens. Three members of his community, Jonathan Holman and twins Martin Holman and Malcom Holman. While there was not much commercial success, the young men formed a lifelong friendship. This continued throughout high school until they all joined the military on their own times respectively. Malcom Holman, Martin Holman, and Jonathan Holman have all gone back to making music under the names of Wolfgame and Souflow. Before joining the military Nathan Notorious participated in the Rotary Youth Exchange Program and represented the United States as a foreign exchange student in Warsaw, Poland. He lived in the Ochota and Podkowa Lesna neighborhoods. Nathan made many friends in Poland and still meets up with them when he takes trips to the country. Returning from Poland after his exchange experience Nathan, joined the United States Marine Corps. Where he spent most of my time overseas in places like Japan, Australia, Thailand, Philippines, United Kingdom, Turkey, Afghanistan, and many other places. "I currently want to do my best to make the world a better place by helping others become their best version of themselves.", Nathan. While an active duty Marine, Nathan is also an entrepreneur as a Life coach and consultant.

Early Life [edit]

Nathan's early life was very eventful due to family events and moving very often. He was born in Belleville, Illinois after which his family moved to Tupelo, Mississippi, then to Monroe, Louisiana. Finally moving back to the St. Louis Bi-state area where he would graduate high school from Cahokia School of Choice. While growing up Nathan was not interested in much of the things other children liked. He did not enjoy many games, toys, or even television. He was always interested in money and how to do things himself. His mother was noted telling a story about the time she came to pick Nathan up from school on career day and the teachers pulled her to the side due to the fact, when they were asking everyone what they wanted to be when they grow up, Nathan said, "I want to be myself." Other children said they wanted to be doctors or lawyers, but Nathan was firm in his choice to be himself. Every team Nathan was on or Group that he was a part of always picked Nathan to be the leader. He participated in Key Club and Rotary Club in high school. "In 2011, one of the biggest projects outside of raising money to end polio was repainting the playgrounds in our city." Nathan

Career [edit]

Nathan's first job was an administrative assistant for his high school. After this he had the idea to start his own business. His business adventure started as a solo entrepreneur performing as a personal assistant to various people in his community. He then got a third job working under a well performing business owner as a bar assistant. He took a break from work from 2012-2013 to go to school in Warsaw, Poland. After returning to the US in the summer of 2013, Nathan joined the United States Marine Corps. While in the Marines from 2013-2017 I worked as a Wire Repair Technician and Aviation Navigations Systems Supervisor. Then from 2017-2020 Nathan worked as a Marine Security Guard. Mybitstore

About Mybitstore [\[edit\]](#)

Mybitstore is a cryptocurrency trading platform to buy, sell, send, receive and convert cryptocurrencies. Mybitstore offers peer-to-peer trading, over-the-counter (OTC) trading, and business to customer (B2C) trading. Mybitstore currently runs mobile applications on Apple Appstore, Google Playstore and a website. Mybitstore also offers buying and selling of various types of gift cards.

Mybitstore History [\[edit\]](#)

Mybitstore is an African cryptocurrency trading platform where users can buy, trade, convert, send, and receive cryptocurrency using both African and global payment channels.

Users can also use a Peer To Peer Platform, which is built on a world-class safe escrow, to inter-trade and set their pricing.

Due to unintegrated payment systems and the lack of payment infrastructure in some countries, most Africans were financially excluded from the global financial market and also do not have complete or any financial freedom hence another reason for the establishment of Mybitstore.

Benjamin Anderson founded Mybitstore in 2018, and it was released in 2021.

The three-year delay between creation and introduction was owing to the complexity of integrating payments from different countries, as well as the lack of international payment systems in some parts of Africa.

By March 2022, it had surpassed established companies to become one of Ghana's and Africa's most popular crypto apps. "The African Crypto Messiah," as he's been dubbed.

2017-2022 Mybitstore arose from Benjamin Anderson's vision of a "desire to bring and educate the African on the power of crypto." Benjamin Anderson, a Ghanaian Business Executive, Philanthropist and Fintech developer pioneered the notion of bringing crypto to Africans through education.

The Benjamin Anderson Foundation (BAF) was formed to educate the general public about cryptocurrency, its adoption, and how to stay safe when operating in the cryptocurrency space.

"The majority of people around me didn't comprehend crypto, so I recognized the need to teach them through The Benjamin Anderson Foundation, an NGO I founded."

Founder of Mybitstore, Benjamin Anderson The transition from the Benjamin Anderson Foundation to a crypto trading app was motivated by the need to provide financial inclusion, freedom and a safer place for Peer-to-Peer exchange of crypto values across the globe.

"A lot of my friends got into crypto, but they lost a lot of money due to frauds and bogus programs."

Benjamin Anderson and Daniel Darko-Chief Technology Officer created the initial Mybitstore prototype, which was used as an internal service by Benjamin's crypto peers. The pilot was successful and that initiated the introduction of the full version in 2021.

"Half the job was done once people realized they could buy and trade bitcoin using mobile money and bank transfers." We realized we'd made something unique." - Darko, Daniel

Benjamin Anderson feels that Mybitstore's success can be linked to a 24/7 customer service strategy implemented by the marketing team.

"The user is the most valuable currency at Mybitstore, and this prioritizing of customers has been the single most important component in the Mybitstore brand's success. The Mobile App was designed with the needs of app users in mind, with security features.

It's almost as if the merchant built Mybitstore himself. The user is Mybitstore's loudest voice, and in response, Mybitstore offers a 24-hour customer service line."
